second load transistor, a first switch transistor, a second switch transistor, a first output unit and a second output unit with the recited connections and operations set forth therein. In particularly, the prior art of record fails to disclose or suggest that level shifter including the first output unit generates the output signal in response to a signal generated at a connection node between the first load transistor and the first switch transistor and a signal at a connection node between the first input transistor and the first switch transistor, and a second output unit generates a complementary signal of the output signal in response to a signal generated at a connection node between the second load transistor and the second switch transistor and a signal at a connection node between the second input transistor and the second switch transistor.

Claims 2-7 are allowed because they depend on claim 1.

Claim 8 is allowed because the prior art of record fails to disclose or suggest a level shifter which includes first through fourth nodes, first through sixth PMOS transistors, and first through fourth NMOS transistors with the recited connections and operations set forth therein. In particularly, the prior art does not disclose or suggest that the level shifter including the fifth PMOS transistor, the third NMOS transistor, the sixth PMOS transistor and the fourth NMOS transistor with the recited connections set forth therein.
